<< Farewells from Rome

The Anglican Centre held a dinner to farewell the Revd Dr Bill Franklin and his wife, Carmella. Bill is a distinguished historian who has been involved in the life of the Anglican Centre for many years. Sometime Chair of the American Friends he also served as a Governor of the Centre and in recent years, whilst living in Rome where Carmella was Director of the American Academy, he has been Academic Fellow of the Centre.

Seen here along with ACR Director David Richardson and Senior Tutor Jonathan Boardman (Archdeacon of Italy and Malta) are two others departing Rome: the Revd Dr Michael Vono, TEC Rector of St Paul's within the Walls, has left to be the Bishop of the Diocese of the Rio Grande, and Lieutenant Commander the Revd David Greenwood, a priest of the Anglican Church of Canada and a military Chaplain, has recently completed his studies at the Angelicum and returned to Canada.

Visitors to the Centre

From Melbourne

Amongst the many Australians visiting the Centre were Alexandra, Jeremy & Conor Neylon from St Pauls' Cathedral, Melbourne.

The Archdiocese of Regina

Bishop Don Bolen, and a group of fellow Catholics from the Archdiocese of Regina, Canada, including their Archbishop Daniel Bohan, enjoyed lunch with the Director and Margie Richardson.

Professor Robert Gribben

The Revd Professor Robert Gribben, Chair of the Standing Committee for Ecumenics and Dialogues of the World Methodist Council, visited the Centre in September. A long time friend of the Director, he also visited the Pontifical Council for the Promotion of Christian Unity.

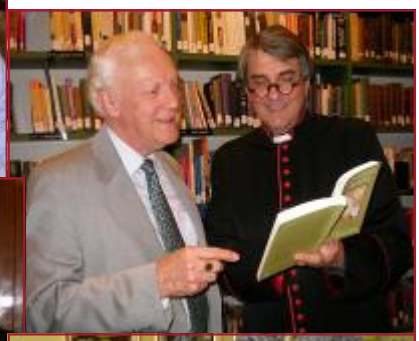

Table talk and prayer

Ecumenism in Rome is alive and well. This group of religious from Figlie della Chiesa and laity visited the Centre to learn about its work. Each of them has a ministry of ecumenism in their communities.
